Dedalo Minosse International Prize for commissioning a building is promoted by ALA - Assoarchitetti and Regione del Veneto. Founded in 1997, the Prize is currently in its tenth edition and was created to emphasize the client's role as a fundamental partner of both the architect and the builder in generating high-quality work. The name Dedalo Minosse derives from Daedalus and Minos. Daedalus considered the first architect of greek mythology while Minos being the first client. The Prize is awarded biennially by a jury that includes internationally renowned architects, writers, art historians, journalists, industry executives, and planning officials. Additional prizes are awarded by ALA-Assoarchitetti and by Dedalo Minosse patrons.
