The Dedalo Minosse International Award Winners

Section:

News

The tenth edition of the Dedalo Minosse International Award for Architecture Clients has ended and the prize giving ceremony took place on the 23rd June in a space that is a symbol of Italian architectural history: the Teatro Olimpico in Vicenza, designed by Andrea Palladio.

Palladian spaces were once again the backdrop to the final events in the tenth edition of the Premio Internazionale Dedalo alla Committenza d'Architettura (Dedalo Minosse International Award for Architecture Clients). This unique prize recognises the fundamental contribution of clients, both public and private, to architecture. minosse-international-award-winners-12853/

On 23rd June at the Teatro Olimpico in Vicenza, during an Oscar-worthy ceremony, the four main prizes were awarded, together with further recognition for various aspects of architecture, including sustainability, valorisation and protection of environmental and cultural heritage. Once more underlining its complete focus on the world of architecture, Graniti Fiandre supported the event, assigning a special prize to Autobahn Church Siegerland, designed by the Schneider+Schumacher architecture studio for Förderverein Autobahnkirche Siegerland e.V, in Wilnsdorf, Germany.

Here are the winners of the four main awards:
